

At Hartlebury Castle, we like to give our younger visitors a trail to follow as they go around. Using this, you can create your own version at home. Simply print off the mouse hole images from the pages below and cut around the edges. Have someone hide them around your house and you can use the clues below to find them. Feel free to take it in turns to hide the mice and to be the seeker so everybody in your household can have a go!

1. He's a snappy little dresser, he likes his style,

If only he wouldn't leave his ties in a pile!

2. He's the rightful ruler of all mouse-folk,

Looking very regal in a crown and a cloak!

3. This little author is incredibly bright,

But with a pen so big, how can he write?

4. With the eye of a newt, tongue of a lizard,

Look carefully to find this little wizard!

5. This little mouse has his nose in a book,

I'm sure you can find him, just take a look!
